DRAINSHROOM INSTRUCTIONS

CATCHES EVERY HAIR, EVERY SINGLE TIME

Step One: Attach

You start off by removing your DrainShroom from the handy stowaway bag that it comes with. Attach the quick-change shaft to any power drill (sold separately). Be sure to wear protective eye wear before operation. To prevent drains from clogging, we suggest using DrainShroom in your bathroom sink and tub drains every few months to keep them clean and clear.

Step Two: Insert

Insert the tip of your DrainShroom (the coil part) into your drain hole as deep as it can go prior to starting your power drill. Next, slowly apply forward power to your drill while pushing down on the coil with your off hand. The forward spinning and downward pressure will "snake" the coil deeper into the drain and grab any clumps of hair along the way.

Step Three: Caught!

Finally, move your off hand to the DrainShroom handle and continue to power forward on your drill while you push and pull your coil up and down in the drain. You can slowly remove the coil from the drain to check on the amount of hair that has been caught. Clean off the clumps of hair with a towel and put your DrainShroom in the carry bag for the next time you need it.
